

Crowley High School
School-Parent Compact
2023-2024

The administration, teachers, and staff of Crowley High School will work to ensure that

Every student attending Crowley High School will receive high-quality instruction and a well-rounded curriculum in a safe, supportive, and inclusive learning environment by instructors who will teach Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) and inspire students to succeed in the global community. We will ensure this occurs through:

- All content areas are based on TEKS and delivered through research-based instructional design.
- Teachers will follow Crowley ISD-created curriculum and cover content as expected through the pacing guide
- Teachers will provide instruction at the level of rigor specified by the TEKS.
- Utilization of technology will elevate the curriculum and provide support, not supplant the teacher's instruction.

Parent-teacher conferences may be held regularly, as they relate to your child's academic achievement:

- A teacher should respond within 24 hours to request a parent conference; parents will contact the teacher via email to partner for student success.
- Further academic conversations and concerns can be addressed with the student's counselor, and then the student's administrator.

Frequent reports of your child's progress will be provided to you via Skyward or paper, upon request:

- Attendance calls
- Progress reports
- Report cards
- Ongoing district and campus level asse
- Beginning of Year (BOY) and End of Year (EOY) assessments
- End of Course exams/STAAR

Communication will maintain a professional and respectable manner. Responsiveness between parent and professional will allow for students to thrive at Crowley High School. Crowley High School will attempt to inform parents of critical information promptly in which they receive the information. Information will be sent through parent S'Mores, CHS Facebook and Instagram, Parent Blackboard, and the Crowley Website.

Parents - We depend on you to:

- Follow the chain of command (reach out to teachers, the counselors, the administrators, and up)
- Have your child at school each day on time
- Give your child support to complete work at home, if needed
- Maintenance of technology for students (student brings in a Chromebook entered, email is sent to the parent, and is related to Skyward)
- Contact the teacher for questions or concerns
- Attend parent-related activities - open house, conferences, CPOC, etc...

Students - We depend on you to:

- Maintain dress Code/IDs

- Attend classes at the rate of 90% or higher
- Focus and fulfill your potential in class
- Reach out to your teachers for support
- Turn in work on time

Teachers, staff, counselors, administrators, parents, and students will work together as an academic community to support student success and growth. With a symbiotic relationship, the ability for students to thrive is improved. The community will constantly re-evaluate systems and communications to create an environment for every student to graduate to their full potential.
